SOL Field Trips

You supply the chefs, we supply the rest!!

Young Chefs Academy is a real cooking school that offers children an understanding of food preparation in a safe environment that encourages discovery and creativity. Our classes allow the students to put their education into practice to develop additional life enriching skills.

The recipes are not the 'Main Course' of a Young Chefs Academy field trip. We focus on the valuable learning points and maximum "hands on" experiences that will serve as scaffolding for future knowledge. We take advantage of a multitude of skills that are involved in putting together basic recipes such as measurement and scientific observations. By letting us know what skill you would like to focus on, we can build your trip accordingly. Whether it is math, science, reading, history or nutrition, we can provide the students with an authentic, exciting experience that teaches skills to last a lifetime!

We are able to build field trips around the following SOLs:
